PICK OF THE WEEK

Lectio: Peter
Peter and the Keys - The Primacy of the Church

Dr. Tim Gray takes us back to the Old Testament and the significance of the imagery the keys had in the kingdom of King David. From there we can see how Jesus was restoring and perfecting his Church in giving Peter the “keys of the kingdom.”

Today’s First and Second Readings teach about wisdom. In the Second Reading, Paul speaks of God’s wisdom as being mysterious and often hidden from those who consider themselves wise. This is because pride can prevent us from listening to God. But because only God can see the future, only God really knows what is best for us.

The First Reading begins with a parallelism – a form of Hebrew poetry in two lines that conveys the same message in two different ways: “If you choose you can keep the commandments, they will save you; if you trust in God, you too shall live.” (Sirach 15: 15) The second half of each lines says approximately the same thing: “they will save you,” equals “you too shall live.” In the same way, the first half of each line conveys the same idea, which tell us that choosing to keep the commandments is a form of trust in God. When we choose to keep the commandments, we are admitting that God’s wisdom is more trustworthy than our own.

God’s wisdom often seem stop be the opposite of what we are conditioned to think. For example, Jesus said that if you want to be great, you must put others first; if you want to win a conflict with your neighbor, you have to win him over with reconciliation. But the most counter-intuitive wisdom is what Jesus did on the Cross—he achieved victory through self-sacrifice. (John 12:24)
